Business statement

The company repairs customers' PC and laptops. Express Repairs also help with tuning and installing hardware in PCs. Company can also help you with building your own PC and giving a list of required hardware parts that would be in the customer's computer of the dream.

Project objective

The objective of this project is simply showing the skills you've got during the course of COMP2680. However, it also gives the understanding and skills on building the prototype and showing it to the potential client. This is also a good practice for interviewing skills. Also, this project helps me on building networking contacts with local businesses and communities.

Navigating the web site

Every page consists of nav. bar, "portfolio" with "business" friends and footer that has an address, clock and link to the x-ref page that was deleted when I was submitting the prototype.

Homepage and index.html also have the background music that starts automatically when the page is opened.

Quick-fix.html has 3 videos in it, in order to help users with their possible problem.

Contact-us.html has the form that can help users contact the shop directly.

How the business would benefit from the web project

Right now, Express Repairs & Consultants doesn't have their own website, so probably they may want to use the website that was built by me. It will benefit them, because they can promote and advertise themselves on the Web. We know that nowadays everything is on the Web, and it is really powerful.
